

By Dan + Kathryn Allman
Illustrated by Lisa Johnstone

Find the rainbow
on every page

For Ariel, Alex and Ember.

In 2020 an awful virus crept across our planet.

It can pass from Ben to Henry,

and from Henry
on to Janet.

You cannot see it
with just your eyes,
it doesn't make a
noise or smell.

But it can spread on to your hands
which can make you feel unwell.

Even if it doesn't
you could still carry it, and pass it on to someone else who's not as strong or fit.

The government on the tele give us ways to stay safe and sound.
“Put plenty of soap on your hands and wash it round and round.”

“Stay inside
your homes”
is what we’ve all
been asked to do.

To stop the virus spreading
to best protect me and you.

This will make the job for the doctors and nurses easier to do.
All the sick people can be looked after and they won't need to queue.

This is why we clap for them from our homes each Thursday night.

For those out there
doing their best
to make sure
we're all alright.

We miss our hugs and cuddles and to feel that warm embrace.

We miss dancing, playing, laughing or even sitting in the same place.

For now we can use our phones
to speak with our family and friends.

You are never home alone,
this will come to an end.

So don't you worry my darling, you just hold on tight.

It won't be long
'til this is gone
and we will reunite.

By Dan & Kathryn Allman
Illustrated by Lisa Johnstone